

Ethical Practice

INTRODUCTION

COA's Ethical Practice standards are based on the assumption that good resource management drives excellence in organizational performance and service delivery, and that good resource management cannot occur in an environment that lacks expectations for ethical practice.

The current discussion of ethical practice in business and legal literature, and best practice codes of corporate governance, parallels the current discussion about ethical practice in the non-profit community. While debate continues about the feasibility of substituting federal and state regulations for strong voluntary support of non-profit ethical practice standards to prevent improper conduct, the risk of harm to an organization's reputation due to negative publicity remains a strong, practical deterrent to unethical practice. A practical, proactive stance to garnering the public trust goes beyond thinking about compliance with legal standards. The recommended standard can exceed what the law allows and be indicated by "what we are comfortable reading about our organization in the newspaper."

COA's standards assume the most effective approach to preventing improper conduct lies in a combination of factors rather than isolated policies and procedures. Research suggests that an organizational culture with a clear preference for trustworthiness in employees, public reactions and demands for accountability, and compliance with legal requirements, altogether, will work to encourage ethical practices.

Note: Please see ETH Reference List for a list of resources that informed the development of these standards.

Ethical Practice

ETH 1.01

The public has access to clear, timely, accurate information, as appropriate to the type of organization, about the organization's programs, activities, service recipients, and finances.

Related: FIN 6.01

Interpretation: All publicly accessible websites maintained by the organization should convey current, clear, and accurate organizational and programmatic information.

Interpretation: Consumers of services, donors, volunteers, and public officials are among those for whom access to information should be assured. The federal Form 990 filing, a vehicle to convey full descriptions of activities undertaken, is used increasingly as a source of information for consumers.

Rating Indicators

- 1) The organization's practices reflect full implementation of the standard.
- 2) Practices are basically sound but there is room for improvement; e.g.,
 - While the website provides accurate information, some written materials are outdated; or
 - Some segments of the general public do not have access to accurate and timely information.
- 3) Practice requires significant improvement; e.g.,
 - Generally public information is not current; or
 - Some important information is not available to the public.
- 4) Implementation of the standard is minimal or there is no evidence of implementation at all.

ETH 1.04

When the network management entity, organizations with an ownership interest in the network, or members of the network's board of directors provide direct services to network clients, the network management entity discloses all ownership, partnership, or governance arrangements in all written material describing the network.

Interpretation: In partner networks, which typically consist of a group of organizations that have joined together to form a new, separately

Purpose

The organization earns and sustains the public trust through honest, truthful, and responsible transactions, partnerships, and relationships with individuals, communities, providers, businesses, donors, and government entities.

Ethical Practice

incorporated network entity, the partner organizations often have a direct financial stake in the network, as well as a direct role in the network's governance, decision-making, and outcomes. In such cases partner organizations can be considered the network's "owners."

A network can use a simple statement such as "The XYZ Network is a partnership of provider organizations in Clark County" on letterhead or other written material, as long as the network makes more detailed written information, such as a list of all "owners" available upon request.

NA The organization is not a network management entity.

Rating Indicators

- 1) Networks disclose ownership, partnership and governance arrangements as per the requirements of the standard.
- 2) Practices are basically sound but there is room for improvement; e.g.,
 - The statement is either vaguely written or somewhat confusing.
- 3) Practice requires significant improvement; e.g.,
 - Ownership interest, etc., is not clearly disclosed in at least one example of written material describing the network; or
 - There is a potential for actual or perceived conflict of interest, such as inappropriate competitive advantage in favor of network owners; or
 - The network makes it difficult to obtain a list of owners.
- 4) Implementation of the standard is minimal or there is no evidence of implementation at all.

Purpose

The organization earns and sustains the public trust through honest, truthful, and responsible transactions, partnerships, and relationships with individuals, communities, providers, businesses, donors, and government entities.

Ethical Practice

(FOC) ETH 2: Conflict of Interest

The organization prevents the enrichment of insiders and other abuses through the adoption and enforcement of a conflict of interest policy consistent with state laws and regulations.

Related: GOV 2.02, GOV 6.01

Interpretation: COA does not provide a definition of "conflict of interest," and expects an organization's policy to do so.

Note: The Panel on the Nonprofit Sector, Interim Report, Section 4, Conflict of Interest Policy Disclosure contains a useful description of the Conflict of Interest issue. References to the Internal Revenue Code note that the Code defines a conflict of interest and that: "All states mandate that directors and officers owe a duty of loyalty to the organization, and improperly benefiting from a transaction involving a conflict of interest more than likely involves a violation of the duty of loyalty. Some state statutes specifically penalize participation in transactions involving conflicts of interests unless the organization follows certain prescribed procedures."

Note: Please see Conflict of Interest Policy and Procedure Template - Private, Public, Canadian, Network for additional assistance with this standard.

Rating Indicators

- 1) The organization's practices fully meet the standard as indicated by full implementation of the practices outlined in the ETH 2 Practice standards.
- 2) Practices are basically sound but there is room for improvement as noted in the ratings for the ETH 2 Practice standards.
- 3) Practice requires significant improvement, as noted in the ratings for the ETH 2 Practice standards; e.g.,
 - Conflict of interest policy provides minimal guidance to stakeholders due to lack of specificity, significant missing elements, significant stakeholders not covered; or
 - Minor conflict of interest concerns are noted.
- 4) Implementation of the standard is minimal or there is no evidence of implementation at all, as noted in the ratings for the ETH 2 Practice standards; e.g.,
 - Significant conflict of interest concerns have been reported.

- a. defines conflict of interest;
- b. identifies groups of individuals within the organization covered by the policy;
- c. addresses transactions between governing body members, advisory group members, owners, staff, and the organization;
- d. addresses policy enforcement;
- e. provides a framework for evaluating situations that may constitute a conflict; and

Purpose

The organization earns and sustains the public trust through honest, truthful, and responsible transactions, partnerships, and relationships with individuals, communities, providers, businesses, donors, and government entities.

Ethical Practice

- f. invests management with developing procedures that facilitate disclosure of information to prevent and manage potential and apparent conflicts of interest.

Related: GOV 6.01

Interpretation: The conflict of interest policy, the organization's bylaws, and/or the board manual should require governing body or advisory group members to recuse themselves on matters where their objectivity would be compromised. The standard does not require an exhaustive list of conflict situations, but the policy should provide a framework for determining when a situation constitutes conflict.

Interpretation: If the conflict of interest policy requires signatures of board members and staff, these signed forms should be available with the policy.

Interpretation: The organization should note that establishing and enforcing a conflict of interest policy is an important safeguard for organizations against unethical or illegal practices, and that the Form 990 for charitable organizations requests disclosure of the adoption of a conflict of interest policy.

Rating Indicators

- 1) The organization has implemented a conflict of interest policy as per the requirements of the standard.Â
- 2) There is written policy that is accessible and followed by stakeholders, but it lacks comprehensiveness or clarity; e.g.,
 - Two of the elements are not fully addressed; or
 - One element is not addressed at all.
- 3) Practice requires significant improvement; e.g.,Â
 - The policy provides minimal guidance to stakeholders due to lack of specificity; or
 - Stakeholders are unaware of the policy; or
 - At least three of the elements are not fully developed or two of the elements are not developed at all.
- 4) Implementation of the standard is minimal or there is no evidence of implementation at all; e.g.,
 - No policy exists; or
 - Policy is not enforced or is ignored in practice.

Rating Indicators

- 1) The organization's practices reflect full implementation of the standard.

 - Policy lacks clarity about how the separation of private interests versus organizational interests is defined and enforced, e.g., the policy does not clearly define private interests.
- 3) Practice requires significant improvement; e.g.,
 - Policy and/or procedures need significant strengthening; or
 - Stakeholders are unaware of the policy or procedures; or
 - Policy is not routinely enforced.
- 4) Implementation of the standard is minimal or there is no evidence of implementation at all; e.g.,
 - There is evidence of business decisions serving private interests over the best interests of the organization and service recipients.

ETH 2.03

Organization members, community partners, governing body and advisory group members, personnel, and consultants who have a financial interest in the organization's assets, business transactions, leases, or professional services:

- a. disclose this information; and
- b. do not participate in any discussion or vote taken with respect to such interests.

Related: GOV 6.01

Interpretation: Governing body members who are part of the organization's audit committee cannot receive compensation for professional services they provide as consultants.

Purpose

The organization earns and sustains the public trust through honest, truthful, and responsible transactions, partnerships, and relationships with individuals, communities, providers, businesses, donors, and government entities.

Ethical Practice

Note: Element (b) does not apply to owners in private, for-profit organizations.

Rating Indicators

- 1) The organization's conflict of interest policy fully addresses the requirement for disclosure of conflicts of interest and for recusal from decisions related to such interests.
- 2) Practices are basically sound but there is room for improvement; e.g.,

 - Applicable stakeholders; or
 - The types of transactions that require disclosure; or
 - Safeguards regarding disclosure or recusal.
- 3) Practice requires significant improvements; e.g.,
 - Procedures do not clearly identify applicable stakeholders; or

- a. accurately describes the purpose for which solicitations are being made;
- b. spends funds for the purposes they were solicited, with the exception of reasonable costs for administration of the fundraising program;
- c. maintains accounting segregation for restricted funds; and
- d. respects donor confidentiality requests.

Interpretation: Conducting solicitations in an ethical manner also requires the organization to ensure that there are no material omissions, misstatements of fact, or misrepresentation regarding the use of funds.

Interpretation: Internal controls should address the handling and acknowledgement of contributions and respect for donor confidentiality requests. At a minimum, the organization should protect the confidentiality of donors who request anonymity by ensuring that such donors' names are not published or listed in newsletters, articles, annual reports, or other publicly available documents regarding the organization.

Rating Indicators

Ethical Practice

Costs and benefits of each fundraising activity are analyzed, taking into account factors that affect the reasonableness of fundraising costs in comparison to dollars raised.

Interpretation: *Factors that affect reasonableness of fundraising costs to dollars raised include, and are not limited to: the differential costs of donor solicitation, donor renewal, large bequests, or donations that would obscure true fundraising costs. The organization must show that it carefully allocates fundraising costs and does not obscure them by allocation to program or educational purposes. Rating Indicators

- 1) The organization's practices reflect full implementation of the standard.
